Abigail Lockhart

Hello, I'm Abigail Lockhart I'm 15 years old and I'm a level 6 gymnast at Arctic Gymnastics Association and Bartlett High School in Anchorage Alaska and I'm in the NSHSS. I've been in gymnastics for four years now. When I get older I dream I want to be a veterinarian to help and save animals. My goal is to move up a level every year for gymnastics, to get straight A's, and to get a scholarship. The biggest challenge I've had to overcome in my career is with my hips. I now know that I have inverted hips and they're weak but are getting stronger. My biggest achievement would have to be getting my back handspring on the high beam and going to regionals out of state competing for a brand new level and did pretty good for my first level 6 meet. My biggest success would have to be winning state and being a state champion.

Ellie's dreams are to be the best she can be in gymnastics and be the next Simone Biles (per Ellie).

My goals are to become a professional gymnast at UCLA. I also dream of going to the olympics. I have achieved many things; new gymnastics skills, school spelling bee, better eating habits and better exercise and I've gained new life skills as I got older; organization, problem solving, perseverance and CPR certified. One of my challenges in life is that on some days I just like to do nothing and chill and that can really get in the way of my busy schedule.

I am Kamryn, but my gymmates call me Hawaii. I have been in gymnastics since I was 3, I am now 10 and competing Level 7. As a military child I have practiced in gyms in Virginia, Hawaii, Florida, and now Colorado. I got my nickname at my Florida gym because my teammate and I shared the same name. So, they started calling me Hawaii since that was where I had just moved from, and I've been able to carry that name with me to my new gym.

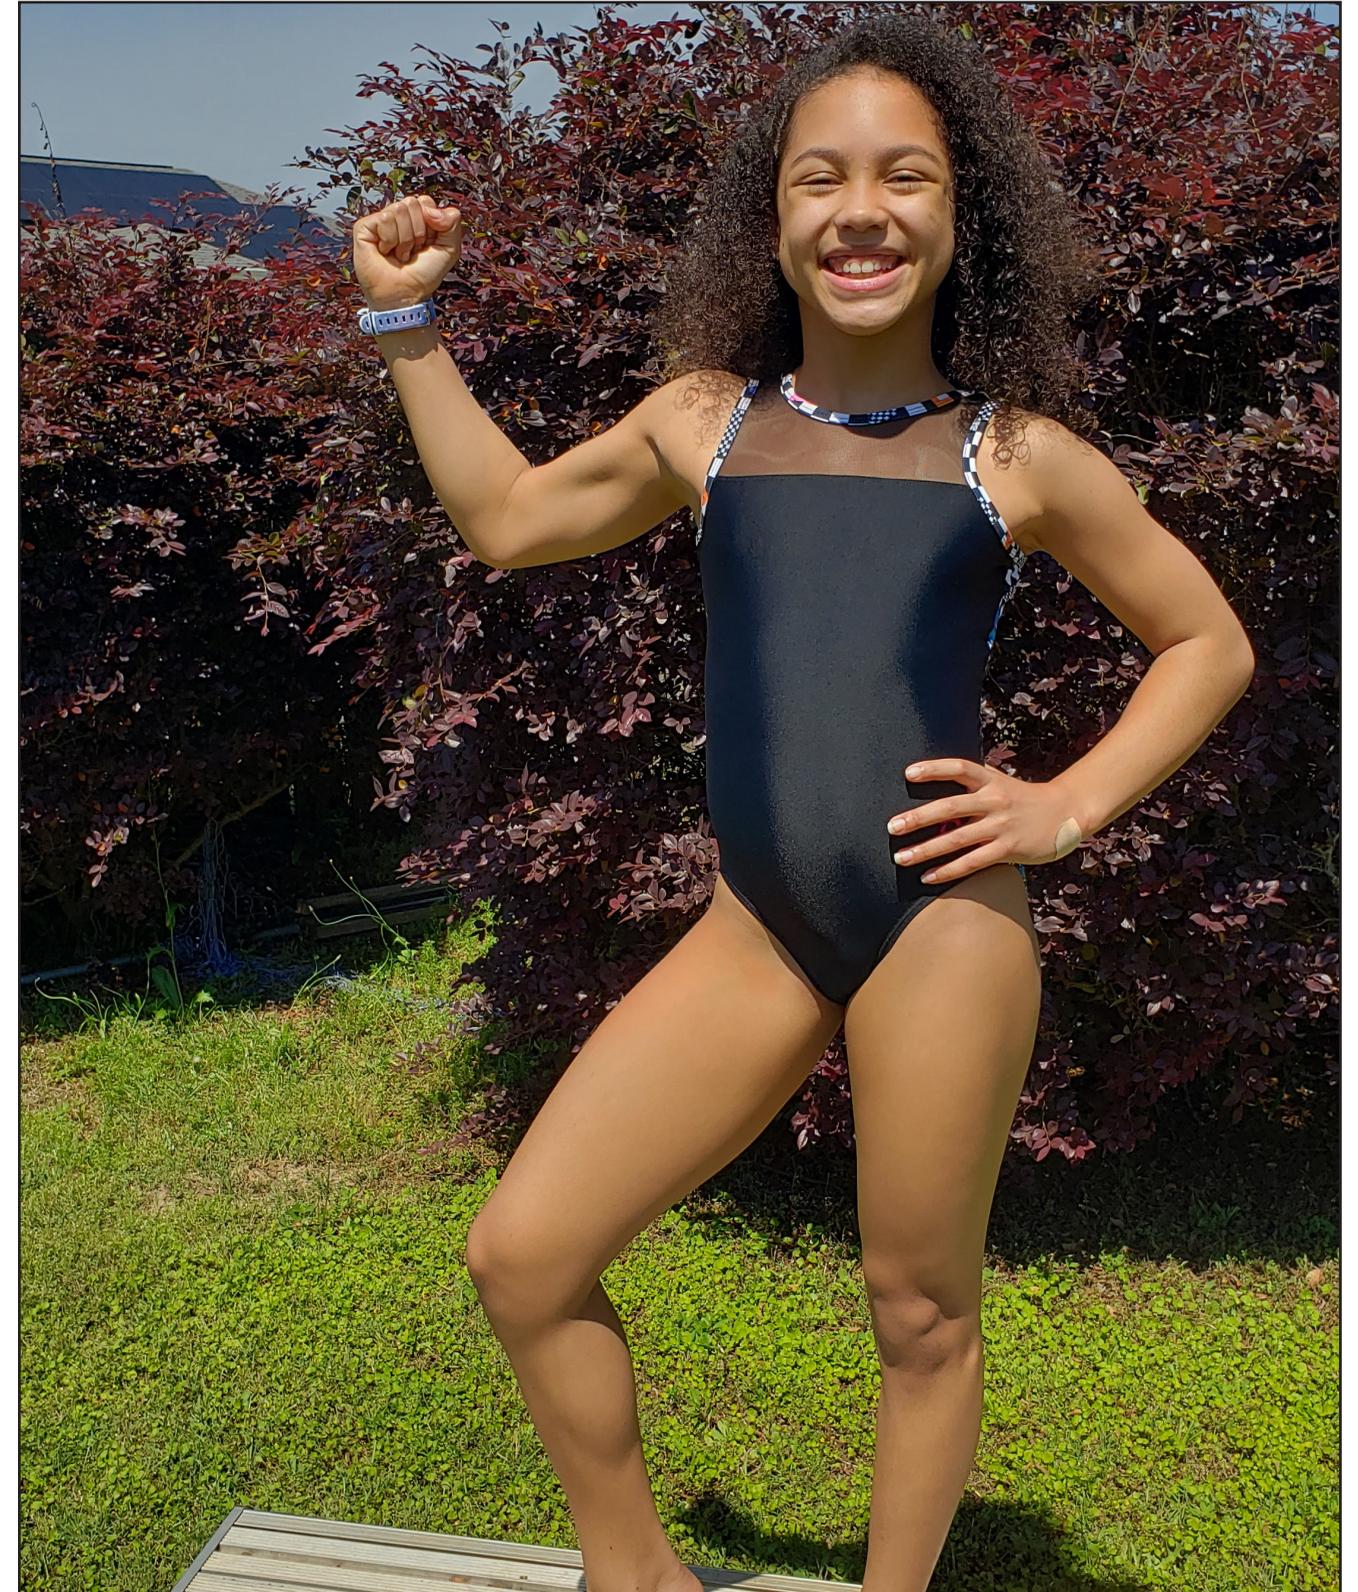

Moving from gym to gym has not been easy. Every coach has a different way of coaching and expect different things from you. But my love of the sport has pushed me through the challenges of many gyms and many coaches. I'm actually pretty lucky to have had so many people mold and shape me into the gymnast I am today and the one I will be in the future.

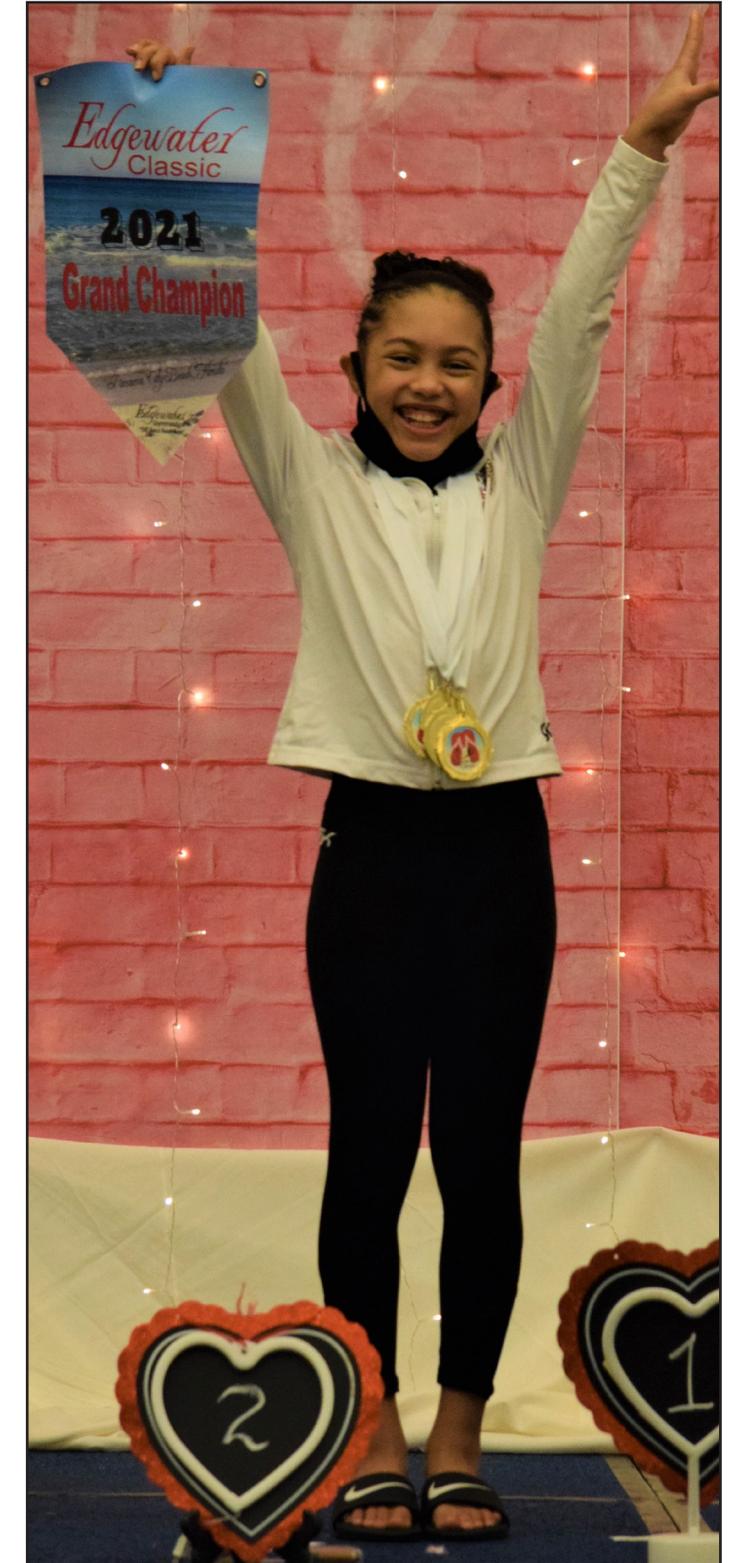

My dream is to compete at the college level, and even though I'm not sure what I want to be when I grow up, I do want to further my education. If possible I would like to try for the Olympics. As for my goals, I like to focus on the short term. So, my current goal is to make and stick a back layout full! I have the same attitude towards my successes, every little one counts. My biggest success so far is sticking my back layout half on my third try!

I think my biggest achievement came in February of 2021. When COVID-19 closed everything down the year before, I wasn't sure how my competition season was going to go. From only being able to practice on Zoom, to limited hours in the gym, I wasn't expecting much. I was expecting even less when my first meet was canceled due to a teammate testing positive for COVID. But at the next meet I surprised myself by earning the title of Grand Champion!! I can't wait to see what the upcoming years have in store for me.

Kaylah Yolanda Garcia

My Name is Kaylah Im 4 yrs old, I love gymnastics, My dream is to become a good gymnast. When i do gymnastics I stretch do cartwheels, handstands, splits, bars. i feel free outta this world I feel good, I think I have been doing gymnastics since i was in my moms belly. Many people laugh at me because they see me small and chubby but I love what i do and i work hard every day I practice at home at the park any where i get a chance, I show them to not be fooled by my appearance, because I want to get better and do great one day, I show kids that everything is possible no matter your age or shape i know i have really big challenges ahead but I really hope I get published so people/kids can feel and see that everything is possible and that it is ok to have big dreams, Do not let nothing stop you.

Kyleigh is a 12 year old gymnast who competed as a level 7 last season. She has been doing competitive gymnastics for 5 years. She trains at world class gymnastics. This little girl is a fighter. She was diagnosed with a rare condition known as gastroparesis when she was 8 years old. She has never let this get in her way. Ultimately she wants to compete for a spot in the Olympics like most young athletes. She would also like to do college gymnastics, while she studies medicine.

Madaelyn Savolt

On the rise! Madaelyn Savolt first stepped foot into a gymnastics gym in 2018. She had natural talent and after seeing her do flips, mom knew it was time to put her in the sport. She began competing as a level 2 gymnast and quickly changed to xcel Gold. Madaelyn just competed in the AAU National gymnastics championship in Savannah Georgia, earning her 2nd place all around National Champion! Madaelyn is 10 years old and lives in Kansas. She attends the O'Brate Gymnastics center in Garden City, Kansas. Her coach, Allison Wadel has worked with her countless hours preparing her for Nationals.

Madaelyn is a shining star and we can not wait to see where her gymnastics takes her in life. Her goals and dreams are to be in the Olympics. Photographers Credits: Therri Wadel, Katherine Waite, Whitney Savolt

My dream of going to college and competing on a Acro tumbling team would be one of my greatest accomplishments! Competing as a gymnast has been the best time of my career. Going into meets with focus and drive to compete my best each meet has brought me to the XCEL nationals twice now and I am training to try and go again. The challenges of last season not being able

To compete in person brought a new reason to train on harder skills and up the game for this season. The love of this sport has kept me grounded in my studies and education to reach my full potential of competing at a XCEL diamond level and one day receive a college scholarship.
